At contact centers, AI will be able to deal with callers after understanding the their situation and emotions by using various usage scenes/channels.

- Multiple knowledge sources such as business manuals and response records of operators can be commonly used in various channels.
- It is possible for AI to estimate customer satisfaction and respond to customers.